She had paced all her speed in the first three-quarters of the mile and as the battle in the home stretch begun she faded away and barely saved her distance. She was drawn after this heat. She has been raced, unsuccessfully though, for several years. The race was a furious one, Watch Eye being the important factor in each heat and being able to win the second. In this heat his owner was able to beat the hand-bookmakers out of $95, which made their faces wry and their pockets sick. The race was unfinished and will be called at 1 o'clock to-day. The 2:17 pace was an illustration of the futility of campaigning horses against luck. Lady Vivian was a member of this field and a hopeless choice in the bookmaker's odds to win. She is an erratic animal and even bets could be given that she would win or be distanced. After she had spoiled several pretty starts by coming up behind the field her driver was notified to take care of his position. He responded by coming up in his position well on his galt, and for the first half mile it looked as though she would win with ease. But she didn't. The Shelbyville Band performed three numbers, the best of which was the last, a descriptive fantasie of Bucalosi's called "A Hunting Scene." The Shelbyville Band was followed by the Second Regiment Band, of Chicago, under the leadership of Ellis Brooks. This band was composed of forty pieces and the members reached the grounds on a special train about 1:30 o'clock. The rendition of the Tannhauser overture was equal to the ability of his great band, but it was not played better than the succeeding selection, "Ma Mi, Rosette," by Lacoma. The band made a popular hit by the original manner in which it lar hit by the original manner in which it reproduced the so-called exotic music of the Midway Plaisance, which was one of the long-to-be-remembered features of the world's fair. Another $35,000 Gone Up in Smoke-No One About the Building and the Origin Unknown.

For the second time in twenty-four hours the fire department responded to a general alarm of fire. It broke out at 1 o'clock in frame building filled with baled hay, oats, shelled corn and some wheat. The blaze suddenly enveloped the building, and when the quick, sharp taps of Box 95 sounded at the touch of the tower watchman in the courthouse, it was evident the watchman had suddenly discovered urgent need of the department. The Maryland street hose wagon and hooks were the first to the scene but then the building was doomed. It all resolved itself into a question of saving the Mullen-Blackledge catsup factory, the freight depots and freight cars on the tracks near by. The department played brought out the entire department and then that no more fires were started. About the only things saved about the building were several large wagons.

Within ten minutes after the alarm was in from the tower a shower of sparks settling on the surrounding buildings. The firemen turned two stiff streams upon the cement and lime establishment of to save the structure, which is entirely of frame. Two horses belonging to Townsend Brothers were in the warehouse stables were taken out with much difficulty with the live stock of the Higgins company. About 1:30 o'clock the sparks, blown fickle. The music day programme was so thickly on the roof of the Mummenhoff great danger. The nines engine company was intent upon forcing a line of hose through one of the windows when the crash came. Four or five pipemen were immediately under the burning wall and made a dash for the street as it fell. Fortunately the wall was of frame and there was no serious damage. As it was, pipeman John Allen (colored), of the nines, was caught under the debris and, for an instant it was thought he was hadly burn instant, it was thought he was badly hurt. He scampered to his feet however and got out of the way of danger. He was taken to police headquarters and an examination made of his injuries. It was found that one eye was injured, but it was not thought

LOSS AND OWNERSHIP.

Total Damage May Reach $35,000-Changed Hands Last Week. The total loss on the fire will be in the neighborhood of $35,000. It was learned at a late hour this morning that Mr. Higgins has retired from the firm, his interest having been bought by H. E. Kinney about a week ago. The firm is now known as J. F. Smith & Co., Mr. Smith having formed the company part of the former firm of W. L. tion until a late hour this morning, but one of them then stated that there were about twenty-five thousand bushels of grain of various kinds in the elevator, of which twenty-five carloads were corn. There was also about seventy-five tons of hay. The value of the contents is placed at $25,000. There was thirteen thousand dollars worth of machinery in the building," and it was impossible this morning to ascertain what the loss to this will be. Some of it was on the second floor, and was precipitated to the ground floor, where it was covered with debris. The buildings are owned by the Union Railway Company, and are not worth very much. The stock and buildings are insured, but for what amount is not known. Very little of the grain which was in the building belonged to the firm, and that loss will fall upon the owners of it. In the viaduct side of the building was a printing establishment, belonging to Junius Braun, and known as the Pembrook Printing Company. A large amount of new fur-niture and equipments had been moved into the room last week. The loss on it will be Anxiety for the Accounts. There was a great deal of anxiety among the books and papers are kept in the of fice. AMUSEMENTS.

About eight thousand people from out of the city attended the performance of "A Night in Pekin" last night. The spectacle in the specialty list, and it is better now than ever. Florence Townsend, who has been a marked favorite with the audiences at Lincoln Park, is the only specialist who has been retained. Hickey and Cole gave a trapeze performance that is full of fun. Their act is of the rough-and-tumble nature that has some difficult feats in it. The triple-bar performance is something ance is better now than earlier in the engagement, and the feats are difficult and uickly performed. Arhno, the equilibrist, gave a display of strength that is entirely new. His "press upward" performance, in which he lifts his entire body by the muscles of one arm, is the feature of his act.
Altogether the performance last night was the smoothest that has been given during the present engagement. It will be repeated to-night, when "Trilby" will be the feature of the fireworks. Lincoln Park has a seating capacity of ten thousand, and the carnival committee is prepared to care for all who come.

"Superba's" opening week here is a great satisfaction in every sense to the famous Hanlon Brothers. Their great production is running smoothly every night to packed houses at English's and they look forward to the biggest season they ever had and that is saying a good deal. "Superba" is making only week stands this season. It is such a stupendous production in scenery, properties and people that it does not pay to play for any shorter time. From here it goes to Louisville. To-night's house here promises to be the biggest of the week. There will be a popular matinee this afternoon which ladies and children will appreciate and another on Saturday.

The one scene which "The Fatal Card" audiences enjoy above all others is that where the luckless lover of the young girl Cecile is caught in swimming at a most opportune time. His clothes have been carried away and he is compelled to renain among the rushes on the bank, where main among the rushes on the bank, where he holds a conversation with his sweetheart at long range. This dialogue is bright and amusing, and pleases the audiences immensely. It leads up to an avowal of love and an engagement. It is nightly greeted with roars of laughter. Visitors to the fair this week are enjoying "The Fatal Card" greatly. There will be another popular matinee Saturday.

Great interest is being taken by fair visors in the frontier drama at the Park. 'The Scout' is a typical border play and is well named. The rifle shooting incidental o the play is one of its interesting features. The story of the play is one of much excitement, and realistic scenery is used in the production. It will be seen all week at the Park. Next Monday Rosa Sydell's London Belles' Specialty Company comes for a half week's engagement.

Rose Hill is one of the best shows of its lass seen at the Empire and is an excelent bill for fair week. Next week diaco's City Club Spectacular Farce Com-dy Company will be seen for the first time this season. Artists from Europe are included among the performers.
